Chapter 1 - ICE CREAM

Part A - Ice-cream is a frozen mixture of sugar, milk and flavoring.

People invented ice-cream in China more than 1000 years ago. A food very much like ice-cream first appeared in Rome. Roman emperors sent slaves to mountain tops to bring back fresh snow. Then they flavored and served it as an early form of ice-cream.

The King of England Charles the 1st offered his chef £500 a year to keep his ice-cream recipe secret from the rest of England.

The explorer Marco Polo learned about ice-cream during his trip to China and introduced it to Italy. Only in the 20th century ice-cream became popular food, not only for the rich, but also for common people.

Part B - Ice-cream cone however, is only 100-years-old! The ice-cream cone celebrated its 100th birthday in 2004 and its shape has not changed much over the past century. This is because the cone is a very nature-friendly form of packaging: there is no waste because you eat the container. Also, you can put one cone into another and so even 100 cones do not take much space.

Part C - Everybody saw cute vans that travel around cities and sell ice-creams. It may be interesting to know that there is an "ice-cream van law" in the UK.

In Britain, by law, ice cream vans must not play their music before noon and after 7 p.m. Outside these hours, ice-cream sellers can only use a hand bell to let people know that they are in the neighborhood. Otherwise they could be taken to court and fined for noise.
